

OBJECTIVES

Uniterra constitutes the following objectives:

- Found a learning community inspired in the ideas of resilience, sovereignty, holism and pluralism.
- Be a centre of convergence of transformative initiatives which, recuperating local wisdom, rethink and respond to the planetary challenges.
- Create a space of eco-social transformation, putting into practice the knowledge which has been generated in the last few decades of ecological thinking.
- Learn to look at the world from the singularity and dignity of each living being.
- Create a space to train professionals to become agents of system change.
- Offer a context for reflection and training for representatives of social and educational movements looking for models in order to move forward with their projects.
- Enable a knowledge born from intuition, experiencing, listening to and union with that which we wish to know, giving place to a contemplative science.
- Accompany people looking for their place in the world.
- Deepen the cracks of the current economic system, generating vision and trust in the human capacity to transform reality.
- Create and participate in networks of knowledge and eco-social transformation on both local and international levels.

“You can never change things by fighting current reality. To change things, build a new model which makes the current model obsolete.”

Buckminster Fuller